

C.V. Dr. med. vet. Ina Gösmeier

Practical veterinarian and dressage rider, additionally qualified in acupuncture and as a Certified Veterinary Chinese Herbalist (CVCH) from the Chi Institute and China National Society of TCVM

Dr. Ina Gösmeier studied veterinary medicine at the University of Giessen, after which she worked in a practice for horses and small animals. She subsequently obtained the specialist qualification in Acupuncture and undertook additional studies in Chinese herbology at universities in China and Switzerland.

Dr. Ina Gösmeier has been running her own referral practice for traditional Chinese veterinary medicine since 1990, and in 2002 she obtained her qualification as a Wings Kinesiology Practitioner for Animals.

Ina Gösmeier has herself taken part in Grand Prix dressage and she obtained her qualification of “Master in Horse Breeding and Management” in 1989. Thanks to her extensive practical experience, she is also an in-demand writer and lecturer both at home and abroad. She has so far written four specialist books and contributed numerous articles to journals specialising in horse riding and veterinary medicine.

Since 2008, Dr. Gösmeier has been teaching the application of Chinese herbs for veterinary practitioners at the Qi Academy; this led to her qualification as a Certified Veterinary Herbologist (CVH). She is also involved in the teaching of acupuncture to veterinary practitioners at universities and lectures regularly in Britain, Ireland and the USA.

Since 2002, Ina Gösmeier has been responsible for horses for German teams at championship events, where her job is to maintain the health, well-being and performance of the horses using naturopathic methods.

2002 World Equestrian Games in Jerez, 2003 European Eventing Championships, 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, 2006 World Equestrian Games in Aachen, 2007 European Championships in Pratoni, 2008 Olympic Games in Hong Kong, 2009 European Eventing Championships in Fontainebleau, 2009 European Show Jumping and Dressage Championships in Windsor, 2010 World Equestrian Games in Kentucky, 2011 European Dressage Championships in Rotterdam, 2011 European Eventing Championships in Luhmühlen, 2011 European Show Jumping Championships in Madrid, 2012 Olympic Games in London, 2013 European Show Jumping and Dressage Championships in Denmark, 2013 European Eventing Championships in Sweden