

Kim Samuelsen, DVM, IVAS Cert. Acup., Cert. Osteopath, Cert. Herbalist

He is currently working at his own Equine practice doing more and more acupuncture, indirect osteopathy, and myo-fascial kinetic line treatments along with Chinese Herbal Medicine. His small animal clinic is exclusively complementary, and he also treats humans, primarily with muscular-skeletal problems. A part of his clinical work is treating referral patients with complementary medicine. He worked in general practice until 2006 and has a great deal of experience in treating cattle with acupuncture. At present he sees downer cows at one dairy farm.

At a nearby Agricultural College he lectures a few weeks yearly in handling medications in farm animals and does some wet lab anatomy lectures.

Alongside board positions in IVAS and NoVAS he is the chair of the local Church Council. During the summer time he loves sailing with his family on the Limfjord, a nearby beautiful inlet.
