IVAS 50th Annual Congress on Veterinary Acupuncture and Traditional Chinese Medicine

At the University of Edinburgh

John McIntyre Conference Center

The International Veterinary Acupuncture Society (IVAS) is pleased to announce the 2024 Congress on Veterinary Acupuncture and Traditional Chinese Medicine. Join us in Scotland to celebrate 50 years of IVAS!

We invite clinicians and other individuals to submit abstracts for Presentations, Wet Labs, Poster Presentations and Research Papers for our 2024 Congress. The presentations selected will be presented by the author and published in the 2024 Digital Congress Proceedings. There is not a general theme currently, all topics are welcome. All acupuncture, acupuncture related, and Traditional Chinese Medicine therapies will be considered.

Congress Presentations:

Congress presentations must be presented in English and accompanied by a Power Point Presentation and Congress Proceedings Notes. Each presentation will be presented in fifty (50) minute time slots and can include more than one time slot. Congress Proceedings Notes will be in English and must contain 5 appropriate and relevant references following standard scientific format.

RACE Approval

As a presenter for the 2024 IVAS Congress your presentation(s) may be selected to be submitted for RACE Approval as IVAS is a RACE Provider. If your presentation(s) are chosen to be submitted for RACE you may be asked to submit two (2) letters of recommendation, if you do not meet the following RACE criteria outlined below:

The information provided in your CV should demonstrate how you are considered an expert and why you are qualified to speak on the topic. The information regarding special knowledge or experience should be related specifically to the lectures being presented.

Presenters/Authors of Medical Programs

Presenters/Authors of any Medical Program must be qualified to engage in clinical veterinary practice or be academically qualified in a field of science related to veterinary medicine. Additionally, they must demonstrate they have special knowledge or expertise in the subject matter being presented.

Qualifications for this category can be demonstrated by any one of the following:

- A veterinarian board certified in the subject matter and instructing within the scope of practice
- An advanced academic degree in the subject matter (e.g. Ph.D. from a suitably accredited institution)
- Providing evidence of special knowledge in the subject area being presented, such as current (10 years) publications in a peer-reviewed, scientific journal, extensive professional training in the subject matter, and/or extensive experience in the field, etc.
- Being currently engaged in a recognized course of study accredited by the American Veterinary Medical Association or Canadian Veterinary Medical Association that leads to an advanced degree or specialty recognition related to the subject matter

Veterinary medical professionals who have not met the above, or human health care professionals, may present in this category if two letters of recommendation are provided from veterinarians who meet at least one of the requirements listed above.
